I am off to the Kids In Style Exhibition next weekend 21 February at the Hordern Pavilion, Sydney. The exhibition is a trade event for retailers searching for unique, high-end and boutique kids & babies fashion & designer accessories.

I will also be looking forward to meeting businesses that fit the genre of the website, introducing them to yourbabyboyandgirl.com and hopefully adding these contacts to my baby directory. Thus, giving my lovely readers an even greater range of websites and businesses to visit. It will be a great opportunity for me to promote my website, helping it to thrive and become a leading online baby resource.

I will also have my eye out for any exciting new products. Check back soon, because I will have them all for you right here.
